BY SIGNING BELOW, I HEREBY authorize the above information to be used in all applicable negotiations and transactions. I understand that I may revise the form at anytime or at the request of management should they be backed into a corner and forced to trade me to a team I said I didn't want to go to in the first place. I also acknowledge that a separate No-Trade or No-Movement Clause included in my Standard Player Contract is worthless the if the team suddenly finds itself needing to clear cap space, rebuild from the ground up, make a public relations move or otherwise dump my ass because of mistakes they, not I, made. Finally, I understand that disclosing teams on this list will make me a villain in those respective cities, regardless of my reasoning for not wanting to go there. Too bad. They can boo all they want.
